

I have become increasingly concerned with the Fox news corporation. They say they represent fair and balanced news when they obviously represent one point of view. I think Fox should have to say which point of view they represent if they are going to withhold certain stories and facts. Journalists have an obligation to show the whole story, not how they see it. If they want to continue being a Right news organization, they should have to say which side they are supporting.